

Call for papers

Field Days: Experiments outside the laboratory

11th edition

University of Cologne, Germany

October 20–21, 2022

We invite submissions to the ECONtribute workshop Field Days: Experiments outside the laboratory. This workshop brings together researchers who conduct field experiments to present and discuss their work. The organizers aim to include field experiments on a broad set of topics, including methodological advances. We invite submissions from anyone who would like to present a field experiment. As usual, we expect this to be a small workshop so that the presenters can receive high-quality feedback.
